1.2.185

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, December 13, 2004, Tape 72_5, St. John's, 8:45 a.m.

www.unc.bz

1. My School is coming forth and you will watch Me. My School is coming forth and you will watch Me. My School is coming forth and you will watch Me. My people are ready, willing and able. The obedient facilitate the sinew which comes together to fabric make and sew and skin and fashion and form be, of Me, for Me, to Me; connecting the tissue, the tendons, the ligaments, the body of My School which now My body brings forth, My Me and My body. Watch Me connect, watch Me connect, watch Me bring forth the giants prepared and waiting, in waiting, in waiting have been so long; in waiting now released, released to run with only Me, carrying My banner, being My stronghold, operating from My strongbox, strength of only Me. My who have waited so long for this moment, centuries prophesied before, prophesied before (1) and in waiting now comes forth today, today, today, your day today; My day today; our day today. The School of My day, My day of this School, My University, My which comes forth; the seed of My hand, the seed of My seed; My authority, My authority given, delivered; not sainthood'd; precious'd out to My precious ones who so carefully I made and protected and planned, warred over and warred for. I love you and I give you Me.
2. Watch Me as My School comes forth and that which I contain not; that which I now explode all over in relationships of only Me. Think it not strange who and how I connect you with My finest; My who are ready, My who have through the fires been and walk now with only Me. I love you. I give you Me and I connect and, Ted, all is ready; reader, hearer, doubter, affirmer. I love you and I give you Me. My Covenant, My connector, My tender mercies of only Me. I love you.

Footnote:

(1) prophesied before and in waiting now comes forth today:
   a) Hebrews 8:10-12
   b) 1 John 2:20, 27
   c) John 16:12-15
   d) Acts 2:17-18
   e) 2 Cor 3:6
   f) Jer 31:31-34
   g) Joel 2:23-29
   h) I Peter 1:5
   i) Heb 7:17

j) Mat 13:35 …I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.